The Spirit of Our Year

As Emersonions, we hove known both triumph and defeat, hoppiness and despair. But as Emersonions, our emotions, high school friendships and experiences allow us to feel that we surposs all others in representing our year.

We hove heightened our honors by mointoining our record os stote and city drill team champions; producing not only all city and all conference students in wrestling and football, but Notional Merit Semi-Finalist. Our cross-country and basketball team, along with the city ROTC commander colonel being chosen from our school have merited many honors in the name of Emerson. We have inspired hope during doubtful moments and grasped unflinchingly to achieve the very essence of our school life.

What is this essence? The characteristics that make students yell faithfully for their team; classmates work diligently towards perfection; while faculty toil endlessly to strengthen and enrich their pupils, and student organizations strive industriously to promote their school. In addition to a prosperous year, the "Spirit Stick" was introduced and did much to stimulate and boost the morale of the classes.

All of these qualities combine to summarize the Emerson student body in reflecting, "The Spirit of Our Year."

A Typical Day Is Lively

What is a typical day at Emerson High School? It is the laughing and chatter of students as they praceed to their next classes . . . The banging af lockers during lunch hours . . . The cheerleaders promoting enthusiasm and excitement for the ancaming games . . . The pride as teachers finally "get through" to their students . . . The saund of the bugles being blown in the morning and afternoon . . . The salemness as the flag is raised and lowered . . . and finally the rush ta the buses after a lang, tiring, day. Working, learning, thinking, and grawing. These are all part of a typical day at E.H.S.

"Tolk fost, will you, it is almost time for the bell to ring, and the buglers are coming."

School Life with Spirit

Remember...the wet bleachers, cold toes, and hot chocolate at the games, the shoes lined up at the sock hops, and dancing to the beat of the Soul Survivors.

Remember... the last-minute scramble to class, the laughter during lunch hour, and the munching crunching sound of the students as they are chips, candy and taffy apples after school.

Remember . . . a thing done by all Emersonians as we look back upon all the events and happenings that took place to make this year an outstanding one.

E.H.S. Stabilized by Change and Tradition

The remadeling and change taak place nat anly in the class-raams, but in all aspects of E.H.S. With the grawth of the student papulation there was also a grawth of E.H.S. Raams were enlarged and painted, ceilings repaired, bricks layed, and improvements of the lighting were made. Along with the tradition of Emerson, which was enhanced by same change in students and facilities, the greatest and most naticeable addition to Emerson students was the new teachers.

Despite terror from Jack Frost and o muddy, slippery field, Homecoming 67 proved to be a heartwarming experience that brought tears, cheers, and loughter for all. Skits and boosters produced spirited enthusiom from the crowded depths of the auditorium to prevail during the pep session. However, nothing seemed as hectic as Homecoming Day, Fridoy, October 27, when all of a sudden the festivities were dispersed upon us. Sleepy-eyed Emersonions faithfully pursued decorating for the dance and cor corovon, distributed mums, and prepared for the memorable occasion.

National Education Week Promotes Knowledge

Emerson, along with other schaols in Gary, participated in various activities during National Education Week, which extended fram November the 6th through the 10th. Displays were arranged by the various arganizatians exploining and illustrating their particular history, purpose and function of E.H.S. Representatives from the organization described the arganizations to visitors, who were escarted fram display ta display by guides chosen from the Student Cauncil. This week was not only fun for the students, but helped ta pramote mare interest.

Something new was added to the yearbook subscription campaign this year. "Oh, Dear, Poor Us, They've Kidnapped Our Yearbook Editors, and We're Feeling So Sad" was presented by the Journalism II class for the student body. The farce, written by Rhoda Bradshaw, Journalism II student, was presented to stress the importance of buying this year's EMERSONIAN. Also included in the program was the presentation of the first "Mr. and Miss Photogenic Contest." The winners received roses, tie tacks, and one-year subscriptions to the NORSE WIND.

"It's a Bird, It's a Plane, It's SUPERMAN!"

"We Need Him"

From off-Broadway came one of the liveliest musicals to ever hit Emerson, "It's a bird . . . It's a plane . . . it's SUPERMAN!" The musical was presented by the Drama Club on April 25-26, 1968.

The plot concerned what would happen if the "man of steel" should suddenly STOP believeing in himself and his powers. Among the cast and crew were; Superman/Clark Kent; Jaime Velez; Lois Lane, Marilyn Stupar; Sydney, Terry Carter, Pamela Dudley; Max, Gregory Gray; Dr. Sedgwick, Houston Rucker; Jim Morgan, Ted Pappas; Perry White, Andy Vasquez; Newscaster, Hector Agosto; Bonnie Holloway; Clyde, Ted Pappas; Director, Miss B. Marilyn Stupar talks her way out of a tight situation.

Football-o-Rama and Hi-Y Queens During the Year

"Queens for all seasons" was the best way to describe Judy Robbins and Lorraine Dowdell. Judy was chosen Emerson's gueen at the annual Football-o-Rama and reigned along with seven other queens from the areas high schools. Lorraine was chosen queen of the contest run by the Hi-Y and reigned during the Hi-Y's Sweetheart Ball in February.

Hi-Y Sweetheort Queen Lorroine Dowdell.

Footboll-o-Rama Queen Judy Robbins.

SOS Drive Highlights Second Semester

To coincide with Valentine's Day, the traditional theme of this year's SOS Drive, was "give from your heart." To boost participation in the drive, a contest was held to see which class could raise the most money for the drive. After the closing of the drive, which ran from February 14-22, the winners were announced; First place, Mrs. Pierce's Advanced Literature and Composition class; Second place, Mrs. Van Beek's Algebra IIX class; Third place, Miss Schultheis' English IIIR Class.

"That Was the Game That Was."

One of the highlights of the year "was the game that was"—the basketball game on February 21, between the Junior girls of GAA and the women faculty. This was one time it didn't matter that an opponent was a student, only one thing mattered, which was to win. After the roughest, toughest battle since the Little BigHorn, the final score was Faculty 14, Juniors 8.

Fashion-minded Emersonians

Ray Traylar, saphamare, madels the latest fashion for bays.

Upper classmen set an excellent example for the upcoming fashion-minded Emersonians. The fashions for 1967-68 school year have varied from long, straight hair, high boots, and shift dresses to short, curly hair, square-toed shoes and ruffled, waistline dresses. Boys' fashions stay basically the same except belts are out and the ivy league look is in. Neatness and simplicity in dress has been Emerson's tradition for many years. If "clothes make the man" the students at Emerson must be the "cream of the crop."

Maria Zalazar, senior, displays the trend for the shart styled hair.

Emphasizing the trend far lang hair is Jaann Rubens, seniar.

Ton Proscok, senior, poses in the latest for "in-girl" foshion.

Joonn Rubens and Jenny Povlecich keep worm in winter fashions.

Academics with Spirit

Knowledge, skill, and experience are three of the benefits that come from constant study and practice of ocademics.

Knowledge is becoming acquainted with Julius Caesar, Silas Morner, ar any af the ather characters described in books. It is knowing and grasping the economic, mathemotical, or sociol problems of the present day.

Skill is being able to turn a piece of wood into a baakcase or cobinet, to sew a new piece of clothing for a wordrobe, ar to turn out a tasty meal.

Experience is repetitive use of the knowledge and skill. It is having the confidence to stond up against, and have cantrol of any crisis or cansequence that we moy be confranted with in our lives ahead.

Thraugh ocademics, a richer and more resourceful life is mode possible.

Knowledge and Understanding through English

"Tomarrow, and tomorrow, and tamorraw creeps in this petty pace from day to day and all yesterdays hove lighted fools the way ta dusty death," one of Shakespeares many quates fram Mocbeth.

Dickens, Sandburg, and Wilder are just o few names of great men who have influenced aur lives and who mony Emersanians hove studied obout the past year.

Grommar alsa has been prajected to the students. Semi colons, colons, adjectives and dangling modifiers have had fellow Emersonians aver the barrel many times this year.

Vocabulory has been another problem but we all hove come through it with flying colors ranging from the glarious "A" to the dreaded "F."

Droma and speech will turn the educated Emersanians. The drama class will turn out the octor and the actresses wha will brave the stage . . . screen . . . and movies. The speech class will prepare the great arotors, politicians, and who knaws, the President.

Tagether these two classes can really add the finishing tauch to some Emersanian while those less fartunate who did not take these caurses will still make Emersan proud.

Welcame to the world of fantasy and reolity . . . Mrs. Peorce's senior advanced literature class.

"Naw shauld I put a semi-colon ar a comma?"

Warking hard at the board are the freshmen English students.

History, Study of Past Events

Pointing out on interesting spot on the mop is Mrs. Conwoy

U.S. History is interesting to the students who listen ottentively while Mrs. Grieger speaks.

in Relations to Today's World

Taking an interest in the glabe from L to R is E. Brawn, R. Walls, R. Watson, H. Kyles and Mrs. Conwoy, teacher.

Ta be able ta understand what the present is all about, ane must understand what has happened in the past. Histary, from the beginning af time has evalved to tadays written record of man's existence an earth. Nat anly daes a student learn af his country but of other cauntries. Juniars review the history af the United States, while the required subjects far seniors are Ecanamics and Government. Through these caurses the student is given a more thorough and detailed study af understanding local, state, and national gavernments in the warld taday.

Studying her Ecanamics diligently is seniar, Herdestine Spiller.

Performing experiments can be both pleasurable and warthwhile.

Science and Math: A Challenge for Emersonians

Chemistry could be a little interesting.

Working in the lob gives chemistry students on opportunity to do experiments and to understond some of the lows of noture. The study of biological and physical science is instructed in Biophysics. The collection and classification insects were only o few biology products. Friction, motion, and force ore only o few bosic principles of physics.

There is o great need for students with a good mothematical background. Algebro I and II introduces students to equations in solving problems by using symbols instead of numbers. Geometry deals with the puzzling problems of postulates theorems and a small amount of Trigonometry.

Miss Van Beek paints aut a student's mistake while the class listens ottentively.

Commercial Skills Aid Students

Mimeographing and making stencils are just part of Clerical Practice.

General Business, Clerical Practice, Business Low, Baakkeeping, Typing, Shorthand, and Distributive Education camprise the Business department.

General Business gives the students a broad out-look at the world of business. Business low pretains ta federal and state laws in the business world. Increasing your speed and accuracy is the daily practice in typing.

Bookkeeping's gool is to train students how ta recard business transactions. To be praficient in dictation, shorthand is essential to the future secretary. Distributive Education provides to mony Emersonians on opportunity to work in Gary's Downtown stores.

Clerical Practice rounds off a girl in the business world. In this class she learns haw to be a "Girl Fridoy" by filing, stenciling, and typing.

Geel This is funl I wish I knew haw to type.

Language, Music and Art

Taking dictatian fram Miss Gurauskas are the French III class.

Lifting their vaices in sang is Miss Nichals's A Cappella class.

Strives for Perfection

Ta achieve the gaal of cammunication with fareigners, E.H.S. offers three language courses, French, Spanish and Latin. The third language is na langer spoken but is essential in understanding English. Taking o fareign language is nat anly prafitable for college but is also a gaad aid in developing the English vocabulary.

Here at Emersan, students who are interested in music have an apportunity to toke archestro, band, A Cappella Choir and Glee Club. All faur departments strive far perfection.

Under the guidance of Miss Steeves and Mrs. Gattling, Emersonions develop an ortistic tolent. The Art Department furnishes signs far pep sessians and print signs far different organizations. They also participate in poster cantests such os Fire Preventian Week, Gardan's Fashian Cantest.

Remodeling the clossroom was one of the projects undertaken in art.

Orchestro students prepare to rehearse for concert.

Enjaying faad prepared by their awn hands are the Hame Ec. 1 girls.

Sewing gives Glaria an appartunity to add a new dress ta her wardrabe.

Future Builders and Homemakers of Tomorrow

Working diligently on the Lathe machine is Nathaniel Elliat.

Pots and pons, needles and thread, and hommers and noils, are o few of the essential tools of Home Economics and Industrial Arts.

Home Ec. is not only open to femoles, but also to males. This year Home Ec. attempted to teach boys, as well as girls, the fundamentals of cooking and sewing.

Industriol Arts students received instruction on blueprint moking, sketching londscopes and houses and also complicated drowings. Future droftsmon were given the opportunity to work with plostic, leathers, and sheet metal.

Using the Sander is quite easy far Howard Barnes, saphamare.

P.E. Practices Sportsmanship

The prime objective of the Physical Education Department was to develop the bodies as well as the minds of E.H.S. students.

Calisthenics, tumbling, football, and exercising were only a few of the many activities offered in P.E. Girls as well os boys were often seen running and racing on the track. P.E. classes olso enjoyed the use of the pool, after being recently reopened.

Members of the girl's P.E. closses struggle to score two points for their teom.

Organizations with Spirit

Dedicating more time to a particular field, sharing ideas with one another, and working diligently for recognition are only a few of the responsibilities partaken by the various organizations at E.H.S.

By belonging to one of these organizations, students are able to express their ideas and feelings about their particular interests, and are able to work together and build long-lasting friendships.

Leadership Shown

The promotion of the welfore of Emerson School rests in the honds of the student council. The student council provides for the co-operation between students and foculty, promotes all school activities, and operates on the will of the majority; providing at the same time a chance for the minority to be heard. All Emersonians are given an appartunity to participate in the council through their representatives. Something new developed by council this year was a student disciplinary board. Its purpose was to promote the well-being of Emerson through the practical application of student judicial administration. The board's duties were to review the causes of problem students, submitted by teachers, along with a complaint cord, and to decide an action to be taken on the matter.

Helping Emersonian's to prepare for a future in teaching or business was the main functions of E.T.A. and E.R.I.A. Received.

helping Emersonion's to prepare for a future in teaching or business was the main functions of F.T.A. and F.B.L.A. By participating in the activities of these two arganizations, students were able to learn to face the many responsibilities as well as the rewards that come with being a member of one of these professions.

Heads and Feet High,

Providing for the bugle in the morning and afternoon, presenting music selections at the annual concerts, marching at games, and traveling to Indianapolis to compete in State contests, were a few of the activities performed by members of the band.

Cheerleaders Display Pep, Loyalty, Spirit

Many times students become frustrated and disappointed with their team and need to be reassured. Regardless of the outcome of the game, the cheerleaders job is one of reassuring, their classmates during doubtful moments, and celebrating the victories. They help to boost those spirits that otherwise might have dwindled, and stress the importance of school dignity and loyalty. Their job is not an easy one—but it reflects those qualities that represent the standards and goals of Emerson.

The varisy squad enjays a "breather" between cheers.

Reserve squad: (top ta battam) Debbie Martinez, Nancy Gayda, Sharan Rackwell, captain.

Faculty with Spirit

There are times when the unknown becames known, when the last find a way, and when the dim becames bright . . . because there are teachers.

They are willing to share their knowledge with a questioning student, to lend patience and understanding when no one else has the time, to take a student and make him an autstanding individual... because they are teachers.

They are always the first ta give praise ta deserving students, ta share a laugh in a time af humar, and ta help aut when things ga bad . . . because they care.

I hope we get enough yearbook subscriptions, is the thought of Verceno Dungy, Emersonion Academic section editor.

Getting the news and latest happenings of Emerson to the students was the job of the Norse Wind, Journalism I, staff. Writing stories, getting interviews, and laying out pages, were three phases of the production for the paper.

Any junior or sophmore member of the stoff was eligible to be selected for next year's Emersonian staff, and also as the new editors of both yearbook and newspaper.

Giving up lunch hours, staying at school until 10:30, and working weekends were but o few of the tasks performed by the Emersonian, Journalism II staff as they strove to meet each deadline. The staff members, under the sponsorship of Miss. V. Bradley, presented a skit written by Rhoda Bradshow, in order to kick-off the sales campaign for the yeorbook. They also were responsible for the nominating and electing of Senior Personalities.

Underclassmen with Spirit

Anticipation plays on important part in the life of a freshman, sophomore, or junior as they await some of the rewards that come with being an under or upper classmen at E.H.S.

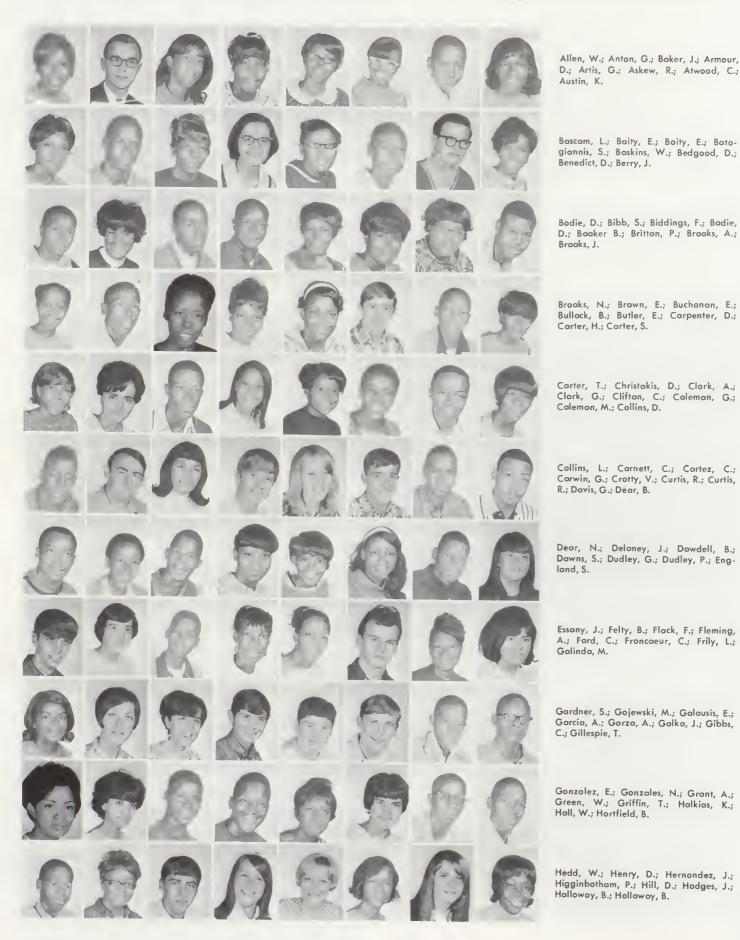

To some, it is the year's onticipation of changing from the meek, wabbly-kneed freshman, to a poised, self-confident sophomore.

To the sophomore, it is the pride in receiving the closs rings for which they have anxiously awaited since the beginning of September.

To the junior, it is the chance to ottend their first prom, and to be known and respected by others as "upperclassmen."

To everyone, there is something that makes their class of special one, that makes all the work and effort put forth, worthwhile, . . . for each class passesses the Spirit of THEIR Year.

In Memorium

William Janes

If you would indeed behold the spirit of death, open your heart wide unto the body of life—
For life and death are one, even as the river and sea are one.

In the depth of your hopes and desires lies your silent knowledge of the beyond.

For what is it to die but to stand naked in the wind and to melt into the sun?

And what is it to cease breathing, but to free the breath from its restless tides, that it may rise and expand and seek God unencumbered? Only when you drink from the river of silence shall you indeed sing.

And when you have reached the mountain top, then you shall begin to climb.

And when the earth shall claim your limbs, then shall you truly dance.

Kahil Gibran

Sports with Spirit

Desire to win is olwoys an the mind of an Emerson Athlete, as they strive to the best of their obility to bring more fame to the Gold & Grey, whether it be on a court, field, mat, or in a pool.

Discouragement and disappaintment may appear an the faces of many af these boys, but deep inside lies the pride and wormth that comes from the cheers and backing of the crawds.

Without the Emersan Athlete, there would be a lass of this pep, enthusiosm, honor and pride that is ever present in the Spirit af Our Year.

Two was the call from the spectators!

Although Tolleston has the boll now, they evidently didn't use it to their advantage.

Ending their season with true style, The Emerson Norsemen compiled a 13-7 record for the 1967-68 season.

Under the iron hand of Coach Mike Sosh, the Norsemen defeated some of their toughest opponents. Tolleston, the number one team in the city, had fallen under the mighty wheels of the Norse wagon.

Although we were defeated by Froebel in the Sectionals, Lew Wallace was not so lucky, bowing out in the first game of the tournament.

The Emerson Norsemen have had one of those seasons in which the school is proud of, and will never forget.

Finmen Stroke to Improve Team

A good swimming team is made up of many elements, among them are size, age, and experience. These three things aid in attaining a great team.

The Emerson Finmen composed mostly of seventh and eighth graders, lacked some of the size, age, and experience, but exceeded in determination and ability as they surmounted these obstacles and developed a highly spirited and enthusiastic team.

The Art of Frying Chicken

The gentle art of frying chicken in a "heavenly manner" is given to but a few persons on this earth. Some mothers can do it. A few chefs can be mentioned. But, the true "artists" of this profession are, amazingly enough, high school boys!

Trained for months and months by Chuck Wheeler himself, these fortunate young men learn to turn out the tender, golden crusted, delicately-seasoned chicken in perfect batch after batch, around the clock from 11 a.m. until 11 p.m., seven days a week. Many of them earn college money in this manner. Constant dedication to the goal of perfect fried chicken is a wonderful character builder and a lesson in modern methods, combined with an old-fashioned appreciation of flavors and the human ingredient. When you enjoy Kentucky Fried Chicken from Chuck Wheeler's, you know the tenderness, flavor, and perfection of each piece of chicken is no accident. Chuck planned it that way.
